

JUSTIN BOROUGHS

Auckland Landscapes

Jonathan Grant Galleries

"The subject of this exhibition is landscapes around Auckland - landscapes that I know well and love.

I consider myself an Aucklander, having come here to go to Elam School of Fine Arts in the 1970's - and this is the place where I paint and teach painting at Auckland Grammar School.

My paintings are often described by critics and buyers alike as Arcadian, Romantic, polished and even spiritual. This is encouraging, as I am always attempting to create an emotional connection to these local landscapes.

The artist has a role to record and give an account of the collective memories of a community. I hope my paintings have the effect of seeming to conjure up past experiences. The absence of people or references to specific time periods, allows a free play of memory for the viewer."
